

CLADDING AND FALSE CEILINGS

FALSE CEILING OF STEEL PLATES

This false ceiling is formed by steel electro-galvanized perforated and plain strips, covered by a layer of polyester powder paint. The perforated strips have on their top a mineral wool layer.

The strips are placed in the sustentation hidden profiles by a simple pressure between fringes. The structure is supported by some steel threaded rods into the slab. On these sustentation profiles have been placed luminaria.